

From: Ian Wright [mailto:iwright1@fau.edu]
Sent: Thursday, August 23, 2012 11:22 PM
To: Lynn Appleton
Subject: Re: library workshops: 8/24 and 9/7

Hi Dr. Appleton,

Just wanted to let you know that I will be attending the workshop tomorrow at the Library. I am sure this will be a very informative session I should not miss. I look forward to seeing you tomorrow!

Ian Wright
iwright1@fau.edu

On Thu, Aug 23, 2012 at 4:42 PM, Lynn Appleton <appleton@fau.edu> wrote:

Dear Sociology Graduate Students:

As I mentioned during our orientation meetings, there are two library workshops that have been scheduled.

August 24, Friday, LY136 from 2:30-3:15pm: how to conceptualize and implement a literature review; how to prepare a paper proposal; how to do the research for a paper – an essential introduction to using search terms and search engines.

September 7, Friday, LY136 from 2:30-3:15: how to manage information through RefWorks.

Please let me know if you will be attending or are unable to attend. Hit “reply” and reply to me directly: do not “reply all.”

I expect all of the first-year students to attend; I hope that many of the second-year students will attend. I will be there, as eager to learn as I hope you are. Reference librarians are invaluable resources.

Remember, 8/31 is a department reception.

Best wishes,

LA

Lynn Appleton

Chair and Professor of Sociology

Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts and Letters

Florida Atlantic University

Boca Raton Florida 33487

561-297-3813

appleton@fau.edu