

ManageAssessmentPlan Blackboard Learn W Screenshot - Wikipedia, the

https://blackboard.fau.edu/webapps/portal/frameset.jsp?tab_tab_group_id=_3_1&url=%2Fwebapps%2Fblackboard%2Fexecut

FAU Login Blackboard Advanced Search Scholar Search Gmail ES Home FLEPPC FAU Home Chronicle Other bookmarks

down_quest down My Places Home Help Logout

FAU Blackboard

Welcome Courses Community Tutorials Students Code of Academic Integrity

es_grad Environmental Sciences Graduate Program Journals Tracking your Progress: Carrie Boudreau Edit Mode is: OFF

es_grad (Environmental Sciences Graduate Program)

Home Page

News and Information

Tracking your Progress

New Applicants

Thesis Students

Non-thesis Students

Discussions

Tools

Help

McGraw-Hill Campus

ORGANIZATION MANAGEMENT

* Control Panel

Files

Tracking your Progress

Instructions

To help you meet your academic goals and prepare for your professional career as an environmental scientist, you are required to complete a "Tracking your Progress" journal each semester.

Tell us about the courses you are taking, your research activities, conferences attended and other professional activities. Attach course syllabi, posters or powerpoint presentations from meeting or conferences, and reports from internships or volunteer activities. We look forward to keeping in touch with you!

Friday, May 4, 2012

Scientific Communication Course Spring 2012

Posted by Carrie Boudreau at Friday, May 4, 2012 12:19:27 PM EDT

This spring I took the scientific communication course with Dr. Godenschwege. To be 100% honest I wish I would have found this course a lot sooner into my program. While I found some of the class dealt more with the biological health field instead of environmental and ecological there were many parts that were applicable.

This course was helpful in providing me with a better understanding of scientific writing and

About this Journal

Author: Carrie Boudreau

Entries: 2

Comments: 0

More Journals

Show Empty Journals

Anthony Denardo (1)

Caitlin Bovey (1)

Carrie Boudreau (2)

Danielle Romas (1)

Devon Ghee (4)

down_quest down (0)

Elizabeth Salway (1)

Jacob Brankly (2)

James Johnson (2)

James Lange (1)

Jasmine Coyle (1)

Julianne Hawley (1)

4:48 PM 6/11/2012

